ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SUPERVISING ARCHITECT OF THE TREASURY.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF SUPERVISING ARCHITECT,
Washington, August 31, 1918.

SIR: I have the honor to submit herewith the annual report of the operations of the Supervising Architect's Office for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1918.

In the annual report of this office for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1917, attention was invited to the fact that abnormal conditions which had prevailed throughout the period covered by that report had unfavorably affected the rate of progress in the construction of public buildings.

Before the close of the fiscal year 1917 the United States had declared war against Germany, and throughout the entire period covered by this report the paramount demands of the Government for war purposes have drawn upon every class of labor and material essential to construction work and upon the transportation facilities of the country to such an extent as seriously to retard work upon public buildings in course of construction.

Because of the abnormal increase, due to the war, in the cost of labor and material entering into the construction of public buildings, and with a view to curtailing the expenditure of public funds for purposes which could be postponed for the time being without material detriment to the public interests, this office was directed, under date of December 26, 1917, to place no new buildings or extensions of buildings under contract unless the urgency therefor was established to the satisfaction of the department.

In connection with and necessarily incident to the order above referred to, estimates for appropriations aggregating approximately four and one-half million dollars, which had previously been submitted to Congress for construction work on more than 117 buildings were withdrawn.

Notwithstanding the disturbed condition of the labor and material markets it was found possible, in connection with the buildings and extensions placed under contract during the period covered by this report, to adhere to the previous practice of this department of

of 100 public buildings has burdened the clerical with a tremendous amount of correspondence, and a large force has been called upon to handle a large number of special character. Much of this work has been for purposes more or less directly connected with the services were rendered under the authority contained in the so-called omnibus public building act, approved March 3, 1915, which reads as follows:

That hereafter the Secretary of the Treasury may, in his discretion, cause the head of any other executive department or establishment not under any executive department, cause the plans, drawings, and estimates to be prepared in the office of the Supervising Architect or buildings for governmental purposes which the head of any department or establishment not under an executive department to have constructed: Provided, That the proper appropriation for the maintenance of the office of the Supervising Architect be retained for such work.

The act entitled "An act to authorize the President to provide housing for war needs," approved May 16, 1918, provides for the following things:

That whenever it is practicable to use any part of the office of the Supervising Architect of the Treasury Department for the work contemplated by this act the President shall do so.

Under the authority above referred to this office has been called upon to render technical services to a very large number of projects.

In addition to the foregoing, the technical force of the office has been engaged to such extent as has been possible upon the preparation of designs, plans, estimates, and specifications for buildings to be constructed under the control of the Treasury Department. This work is being carried forward to the point of preparing estimates for bids when the time is reached for the resumption of construction operations.

The obstacles encountered, due to abnormal conditions in the construction work on public buildings which have been so far overcome as to permit of a steady progress, averaging a building or extension completed and ready for occupancy every five days approximately.

The small number of buildings and extensions completed during the year is in part due to the postponement of the order of December 26, 1917, of building operations on the fact that prior to the date thereof, in some sections of the country where large building operations for the Government were in progress or in the vicinity of munition plants and laboratories where high prices were being paid for labor, building was found to be practically prohibitive.

Attention is invited to the following summary:

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISING ARCHITECT.

At the close of the year covered by this report the public buildings under the control of the Treasury Department numbered to 1,200. The work devolving upon this office in connection with their furnishing, equipment, maintenance, care, and repair is increasing in magnitude and importance.

During the past winter, notwithstanding the fuel shortage and the severity of the season, there was no public building under the control of the Treasury Department that was not sufficiently supplied with fuel or heat. When it became evident in the summer of 1917 that it would be impossible to obtain fuel through the ordinary channels for more than about one-half of the buildings by contracting therefor locally, the cooperation of the Federal Administration and State and local fuel administrators was secured, and through those agencies, in conjunction with custodians co-operating with the force of this office, the most gratifying results were obtained.

The custodians' forces in public buildings are compensated by a lump-sum appropriation, and are among the poorest paid employees of the Government. This appropriation, even with the 5 per cent allowance to custodians' employees, in common with other employees of the Government, was not sufficient to permit fixing rates of compensation corresponding with the pay allowed in the States, municipalities, and owners of private property for services or which under existing war conditions was readily commanded in unskilled occupations.

Because of the higher standard of wages paid on the outside, it has been found increasingly difficult to obtain and retain sufficient employees to care for public buildings. Numerous complaints were, and continue to be, received from custodians concerning their inability to keep competent members of their forces at the rates of compensation allowed. As there appears to be no prospect that the labor conditions will improve in the immediate future it is apparent that unless adequate appropriations are provided the problem of properly caring for the public buildings under the control of the Treasury Department will soon become a serious and embarrassing one.

The lump-sum appropriation from which practically the entire personnel force of this office is compensated limits the maximum annual rates that can be paid. Great difficulty has been experienced since the war in filling vacancies in this force, because other departments are paying in some instances higher entrance salaries than the maximum salaries that can be paid from our appropriation. This unfavorable condition prevails with respect to a number of statutory positions; the compensation attached to which is less than $1,000 per annum. It has been found extremely difficult to fill vacancies

The following statements show in general the projects by Congress, and in detail the financial operations of the Supervising Architect for the fiscal year ended June 30,

PUBLIC BUILDINGS UNDER THE CONTROL OF TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

STATEMENT OF BUILDINGS OCCUPIED, IN COURSE OF CONSTRUCTION AND AUTHORIZED, INCLUDING SITES, ARRANGED ALPHABETICALLY, IN TWO DIVISIONS.

DIVISION A.—Statement of legislative authorizations and appropriation notes relative to the acquisition of sites, the progress of the work, and other features. (Associated with Division B by corresponding location numbers.)

DIVISION B.—Statement of expenditures for buildings—construction and repairs, etc.—and sites, showing outstanding obligations and balances, with reference to surplus fund deposits, and other features. (Associated with Division A by corresponding location numbers.)

MEMORANDA.

1. For separate classification of buildings, by titles, showing in the aggregate expenditures, etc., for each class, see Addenda following Divisions A and B.

2. The star (*) in the column embracing expenditures for construction (Division B) indicates the original cost of the completed building. Other figures in this column represent work in progress or incomplete projects.

3. In the case of sites purchased under the act of May 30, 1908, and subsequent acts, the dates given in the column "Date of purchase" (Division B) are the dates at which the Treasury warrants in payment for said sites were delivered to the land on which the title is vested in the United States upon these dates.

4. In connection with some of the very old buildings, and with reference to the number of quarantine stations, including also a few lots of ground, the specific legislative authorizations, if any, are difficult of ascertainment. Sites were purchased for buildings erected, in the earlier days, in some instances, at the expense of appropriations, and hence no separate legislative record exists of these. Such data as are obtainable relative to these items are given in Division A.
